Recently we received thru' the mail a group of direct-mail advertisements — perhaps a dozen of them—and they were all enclosed within the same envelope. The ads we threw into the wastebasket, but the envelope we retained. In the upper left-hand corner of that wrapper was a large circle which surrounded a map of what the advertisers are pleased to consider San Jose trade area. It included Palo Alto, Los Gatos, Campbell, Gilroy and other towns which are fully qualified to supply the needs of their citizens. The encircled message went so far as to suggest that residents of towns therein should claim San Jose as their home town. We don't care for that at all; not that San Jose isn't a good town—but there are just as good and better. Besides, it makes us sore to see merchants of any one town trying to hog the business of the whole county.

Much as it riled us, that circle gave us an idea. It could well be adopted by local business men to use on all their envelopes, letterheads and billheads mailed into Campbell's actual trade territory, and it should include a brief array of reasons why we should trade in Campbell. In conjunction with a campaign of that sort, the Campbell Chamber of Commerce should prepare a bit of a story about the advantages the town has to offer industry and home-seekers, and this information should be printed on all stationery, envelopes, etc., mailed out of Campbell to other communities. It is worth thinking about, and if adopted the plan should be vigorously supported by every business man in Campbell.

There is much here to induce new business and settlers to come to Campbell—practically everything except adequate high school facilities, and we still have hopes of a new high school. Wonder what's doing along that line, anyway. Anybody have any ideas? We'll print almost anything, folks; don't crowd!

Scattered throughout the pages of the current issue of Liberty are little boxes containing the words "By now and bring prosperity back" and, simply, "Buy now." Not a bad idea at that. Still better if you do all buying possible in your own town.

"International Varieties," the show sponsored by the Campbell Kiwanis club to raise the balance of the indebtedness on the Boy Scout-Camp Fire girls building was not as successful as it might have been, financially. There still remain over one hundred dollars to be paid, and this amount is, according to reports, standing out in unpaid pledges. It occurs to us, as long as the advisory board of the building is composed chiefly of Kiwanians that they would do well to provide for the renting of the hall for social functions. In that manner the balance could be wiped out with very little effort on the part of Kiwanis members, who have already expended considerable time and money trying to get the building paid for.

The community was shocked yesterday afternoon at the news of the death of Paul De Selle, who died by his own hand sometime yesterday morning while the rest of the family were absent. When the youth's mother and sister returned to the De Selle home at 43 North Second street early in the afternoon they found his dead body in a garage at the rear of the premises.

It is thought by the grief-stricken parents of the dead lad that he became despondent over his inability to find employment, and the fact that he had not been in the best of health since an attack of typhoid fever two years ago. Paul, who was 20 years of age, was ambitious to become a lawyer, and it is thought that he saw his goal slipping away from him when he failed to find work which would enable him to study.

Paul was one of five brothers, all popular in Campbell. He was a graduate of the local high school and had attended San Jose State college for a time last year. He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Selle, four brothers, Ellis, Stanley, Raymond and Melvin, and a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Preston of San Jose.

CALIFORNIA RANKS
OTHER STATES IN
WAGE COLLECTION

The official figures just released in an article on "Collection of Wage Claims," published by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, show that, in 1929, 17 states collected $1,409,330 in unpaid wages. According to this article, "the California labor office has by far collected the largest amount of wage claims—$1,051,925, in 1929, the amounts collected by other offices ranging from $300 in Maine to $67,290 in Washington state." The amount of unpaid wages collected, in 1929, by the California division of labor statistics and law enforcement was 75 per cent of the $1,409,330 collected by all states.

According to Walter G. Mathewson, labor commissioner and chief of the division of labor statistics and law enforcement, the reason for the very large collections of unpaid wages in California is that this state has better and more enforceable laws pertaining to payment of wages than are in effect in other states. Another reason for the large amounts of unpaid wages collected in California, advanced by Mr. Mathewson, is that the California division of labor statistics and law enforcement maintains 13 district offices in important industrial and agricultural centers in the state, in which wage complaints are received and attended to.

The official figures released by the federal bureau of labor statistics also show that in 1929 California settled 17,966 wage claims and that the average amount collected per wage claim settled was $58.55. For other states the number of wage claims settled ranged from 157 in Wyoming to 2,242 in New York, and the average amounts collected per wage claim ranged from $20.91 for New Jersey to $61.18 for Nevada.

Election of officers is to take place at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, Dec. 2.

There were many visitors at the lodge, including Lucy E. Brown, district deputy president; Ida M. Bruegge, Bernice Simpson, noble grand of Hesperian lodge; Louise Cook, vice grand of Josephine lodge; Max Kohner, past grand patriarch and mayor of Santa Clara; Charles Bishop and several visitors from Palo Alto.

Kathryn Aldrich and Gladys Burns were taken into the lodge at this meeting and F. E. Jones transferred from another lodge in the state. The degree team was commended for their work by the visitors, who remarked on the perfection of the exercises.

The members of the stitching club served a banquet following the meeting. Anna Baheman was in charge of the arrangements.

Marie Wingard, Ellen Snow and Josephine LaBarbera will direct the social hour at the next meeting.

Miss Ada Gardner entertained a number of friends at her home near Campbell Saturday. Guests were the members of her sorority, Omega Chi Delta.

CHRISTMAS SEALS
WILL BE ON SALE
THANKSGIVING DAY

"Christmas seals, symbol of the fight against tuberculosis, will be put on sale by the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis association Thanksgiving Day," it is announced by Dr. J. C. Elder, president. The work of the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis association includes maintenance of convalescent homes, supervisory nursing, education in preventative measures and nutrition. The primary objective is to build health so as to prevent disease.

"We urge the purchase of these seals," says Dr. Elder, "because the work of the tuberculosis association has been the means of saving the lives of thousands of people in the past and will be the means of bringing continued health and happiness to thousands more."

PUNDITA CIRCLE MET
WEDNESDAY WITH
MRS. GEO. SMITH, JR.

Mrs. George Smith, Jr., was hostess to the Pundita Circle when a regular meeting was held Wednesday afternoon at her home on Sunnyside avenue.

Mrs. L. J. Carboni, who presided over the program on that occasion, introduced the speaker, Dr. A. E. Osborn, who gave an interesting talk on "Santa Clara Valley Landmarks."

Mrs. M. E. Purmort added a feature to the program by reading parts of a letter from her brother, Julius Gillis, who is employed in Russia as a structural engineer. In this letter he told of the existing conditions in that country.

Mrs. George Page presided over a brief business meeting before the program, which had been arranged by a committee which included Mrs. George Smith, Jr., Mrs. L. J. Carboni and Mrs. Hans Thaysen.

At the close of the session refreshments were served by the hostess, who was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Pardee.

The next meeting of the Pundita Circle will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Y. Maxon, Wednesday, Dec. 3.

PARTY HONORS MRS.
MARION ABRAHAMS

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Graf entertained last week at their home on Rincon avenue a number of friends, in honor of Mrs. Marion Abrahams of San Francisco, who is visiting here with Mrs. Louis Jones, a sister of Mrs. Graf's.

A delightful evening was spent at bridge. At midnight, supper was served at beautifully appointed tables.

Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Young, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Harcastle, Dr. and Mrs. Lester Cottrell, Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. James H. DeVaughn, Mrs. Mewah Coleman and the honored guest, Mrs. Abrahams.

INTERNATIONAL
VARIETIES IS HIT
OF THE SEASON

The show, "International Varieties," sponsored by the Kiwanis club to raise money for the young people's recreation hall, staged at the grammar school auditorium Friday evening, Nov. 21, proved to be one of the best entertainments ever offered the folks of this community.

Starting with a group of selections by the high school orchestra, A. A. Thielke directing, the generously applauded program, which included numbers by Italians, Japanese, Slavonians and Americans, proceeded as follows:

"Girls of All Nations," a song by the Camp Fire girls; "In Appreciation," Elizabeth Mumma; "Serenade" and "Down the River of Golden Dreams," duets by Vincent Fatangalo and Gene Meske, accordion and saxophone; "Dalmatian Boatman," sung in Slavonian by Miss Violet Zmaric; "Two Crooks and a Lady," play by high school dramatic class, Miss Jean McKinley, directing; "Babes in Toyland" and "Gypsy Love Song," high school orchestra; "Moon Dreams" and "Wind Speaks," vocal selections by Steve Merrill, Dr. Merrill at the piano; Tom Tanimoto and Joe Akahoshi in an exhibition of wrestling and Jiu Jitsu; two solos, Prologue from Paggiacci and "La Dona Mobile," by Antone Bonaccorso, Miss Dolly Stephens at the piano; "The Flower Dance," Geraldine Juras, accompanied by Miss Ora Jasper; and a one-act play, "A Dangerous Visit," staged by the Napredok club of Cupertino, with lines in Slavonian, featuring Marko Pervan, Ann Lopin, Miho Perusina, Jennie Stanic, Kate Zec and Jack Mariani, Jr.

HIGH P. T. A. HAS
SUCCESSFUL
EVENING MEET

A very successful meeting was held by the high school P. T. A. last Tuesday evening in the high school. About fifty persons sat down to a delicious supper which was served at 6:30, each person attending having brought something good for the table.

Immediately following the supper everyone joined in spirited community singing. Mrs. Knowles, president, presided over the business session and introduced the speaker of the evening, Arthur Hebes of Los Gatos. His subject was, "Does Education Educate?" He discussed education and found that it could be classified as either an art or a science. Mr. Hebes seemed to favor the idea that it is an art.

The class advisors spoke a few words to the members of the association. N. O. Best gave them something to think about concerning the new high school situation. Other advisors were R. E. Noddin, Mrs. A. E. Rae and C. E. York.

A benefit card party for St. Lucy's church will be held at the community hall this evening. Joseph Furtado, John Miranda and Frank Semas are the committee in charge of arrangements.

THE SPORT FORUM
By
DICK LYNDEN

The story of the Big Game is the story of a Stanford line that blasted vast sections from the main line route of two Cardinal express trains, Moffat and Rothert. Rothert, the big firecracker that exploded in the second half, scored three touchdowns personally, chucked a pass to Moffat for another, and played sundry additional roles incident to his position as key-man of the attack. "Smoothy" Moffat, the feminine favorite, contributed grandly to the bamboozlement of the Cal boys, whirling off tackle for huge gains and directing the team through the season's most intricate maneuvers with flawless efficiency. Now for some good old subsidization scandal!

In the first half the annual gridiron spectacle, which regaled 90,000 fans, took on the aspect of a rather shoddy touch-tackle game, with Stanford whiffing great, long passes on practically every play, most of which wobbled from the palsied hand of Simpkins and ended nozzling in the turf. During this period two touchdowns were shoved over; one, on which Bill Clark scored following a 30-yard dash, was called back for a penalty; the other was quite valid, being the result of a 25-yard heave, Simkins to Neill, followed by running advances, with Hillman bumping the line for a yard and touchdown.

With the entrance of Rothert and Caddel into the carnival came punch and aerial accuracy, and thereafter the Cardinal eleven pushed steadily forward, employing a variety of deceptive running plays with an occasional pass to spread the defense. Five touchdowns and a safety were registered in that second half, and no doubt many California students began to wonder, with the assistant editor of the Daily, if the game was really "worth the candle."

Chuck Erhorn, gigantic Stanford tackle, played the game of his football career. Were it not for the roving brilliance of Ted Beckett, the Bear nominee to all-American honors, Chuck would have been hailed the greatest line-man on the field. His spreading arms were in every tackle, he constantly harassed the kicker and passer, and on offense his interference was superb. The unsung hero is old stuff, but there is something to it.

The Army and Dartmouth teams, of all the eastern sectional aspirants, remain undefeated. The Army meets Notre Dame Saturday, and Dartmouth clashes with Stanford. It looks as though the east were going to have their dispute settled very shortly, and probably not in the manner anticipated.

Coach Dick Hanley's Northwestern Wildcats fumbled twice inside the ten-yard line last Saturday, and in losing these two splendid opportunities to score lost the ball game (Continued on Page 4)

SHOULD WE DISARM?

In spite of all the pacifist propaganda to the effect that Uncle Sam must disarm as an example to the rest of the world, there are many sane minds among us who still remember the advice of Washington and who have learned from the stories of history what usually happens to the nation unprepared and disunited. Among these we can list, of course, Gen. John J. Pershing, who led the American forces in the World war and who knows whereof he speaks. General Pershing as every one knows, is not a militaristic jingo but a cool-headed patriotic American.

"People say we should disarm," the leader of the American armies in the World war is quoted as saying. "America already is disarmed. Good men and good women tell us that we should throw away our armaments. We have very little to throw away."

Declaring no one hates war more than he does, he says: "I pray fervently that there will be no more war. With all my soul I hate it. I have seen it in all its horrors. The great war was called a war to end war. Yet, in these dozen years, think how many disastrous wars have been fought and how many others seem to be in the process of making."

"We know that we will not provoke war. But what is there in history which authorizes us to conclude that some one else will not provoke one some of these days? It is not a question of whether or not we believe in war. It is a question whether we shall defend this wonderful country of ours if some other nation which does believe in war should attack us?"

The fact is that the United States is now the least armed nation in the world, taking into consideration its size, population and wealth. Our army though efficient and capable of rapid expansion in time of necessity, is little more than a national police force in size. Second and third rate countries in Europe have greater armies than we. Now if our ardent pacifists really want disarmament why do they not confine their efforts to Europe where their influence is needed. From their actions and their wild words we are led to believe that what they most desire is not to disarm the world but to embarrass Uncle Sam.

NICARAGUA VOTES

Speaking of elections, it is not to be forgotten that the people of Nicaragua recently had an election, too. The liberals won and there was no disorder. One reason there was no disorder lies in the fact that the election was held under the auspices of the American naval personnel and an American election commission. Having had experiences with elections controlled by Uncle Sam's marines, the people knew the election would be a fair one. So there was no anxiety and no dissatisfaction.

The election was a fair and free one. It was preceded by several weeks campaigning in which the people heard all the issues discussed by public speakers and there was no gun play. The people decided which candidates they wanted to support and then supported them with the ballot rather than the machete.

The liberal government, which will continue in office is committed to a policy of cooperation with the United States and to the solution of economic which Nicaragua faces along with the rest of the world.

The election result is virtually an endorsement of the American policy toward Nicaragua. American army officers

GRANGE HARVEST FEAST SLATED FOR THIS EVENING

New members will receive the third and fourth degrees this evening and will become full-fledged members at a regular meeting of the Orchard City Grange at IOOF hall.

Preceding the initiation a harvest feast will be served in the banquet room in honor of the new members entering the order. Those in charge of the supper are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Husted, Mr. and Mrs. Matheison, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davidson.

S. N. Hedegard, worthy master, will preside over the entire meeting, and Mrs. E. K. Clendenning and her degree team will put on the initiatory work.

Along about this time of year, as the old fashioned almanacs used to say, you may look for the able-bodied liar who claims to take a cold bath every morning all the year round to join in the conversation—Macon Telegraph.

and an American election commission handled the election by invitation of the people of Nicaragua who knew from their experiences with American military forces that every one would get a square deal.

Since this satisfactory Nicaraguan result, have you heard any exclamations of satisfaction from the so-called "liberal friends" of Latin-America? We should rather think not. Our "liberals" inside congress and our, who a few months ago were vehemently denouncing our policy in Nicaragua and declaring that it was imperialistic and would forfeit every friend we have in Latin-America are now strangely silent. Not a word of commendation for the conduct of our representatives there nor for the quiet and satisfactory election. All of which leads to the conclusion that these "liberal" statesmen of ours are not so interested in benefitting Latin-America as they are in injuring the prestige of the United States among our neighbors to the south.

Now it is learned that King George's aunt, aged 82,

to Notre Dame 14-0, suffering their first defeat of the season. After three periods of scoreless football, the Notre Dame power avalanche started rolling, scored two touchdowns, and barely missed a third in the most thrilling and astonishing finish ever witnessed in mid-western grid circles.

The Tanforan racing extravaganza seems to have fizzled somewhat, the chief difficulty being installment of favorites before the races. The boys who patronize horse races consistently are usually there to pick up a little easy dough,
and when the favorites commonly wobble home well back with the so-called plugs, it sort of aggravates the rail-birds and wisenheimers who have put their dollars on the nag picked to win. It seems that all the imported horse-flesh is dished out as choice, whereas the local dodos invariably walk in triumphant.

ANNIVERSARY PARTY HELD BY WE AND OUR NEIGHBORS

The We and Our Neighbors club house was the scene Saturday night of that organization's annual November party to which are bidden members and their families in commemoration of the founding of the club 38 years ago, when the first evening party was held in the Union district school.

Seventy guests partook of an old-fashioned supper at boards festively draped in red and white checks and laid with fine old china, silver and pewter—the family treasures from a bygone era. Supper and table details were arranged by the following committee: Mrs. Edwin Howes, chairman; Mrs. W. Nichols,
Mrs. Milton Francis, Mrs. E.
H. Todd, Mrs. John Brewer
and Mrs. B. K. Hohman.

A brief program followed the repast, in order mentioned: Saxophone solo, Lura Magneson, Mrs. Walter Magneson at the piano; recitation, Barbara Howes; illustrated song, Mrs. Freeman Howes, Mrs. Magneson at the piano; dance, Marian Cilker;
trombone solo, Ray Howes,
Mrs. Louis Schadt at the piano; accordion solo, Marian Cilker; pantomime, "A Traveling Troupe," Mrs. Wilbur
Howes, Mrs. Hazel Cilker,
Mrs. Walter Magneson, Miss
Ruby Howes and Mrs. Freeman Howes. Cards followed.

SERVICE CLUB MET WEDNESDAY AT ABBOTT HOME

Mrs. I. R. Abbott, Mrs. C.
T. Tanner and Miss W. C.
were hostesses to the Young Women's Service club at the Abbott home Wednesday.

Mrs. W. N. Lloyd, vice president, presided over the business session. At the next meeting of the club, members are to bring toys that will be given to unfortunate children at Christmas. The ladies are also working on garments for children at the McKinley orphanage in San Francisco.

Mrs. Freeman Howes gave naintaining review of "The City by the Long San," by Alice Teasdale Hobart. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Horace Person, Wednesday, Dec. 10, with Mrs. G.
E. Farley as co-hostess.

GRANGE AUXILIARY DECIDES TO STAGE A PLAY IN FEBRUARY

The Women's Auxiliary of the Orchard City Grange met in an all-day session at the home of Mrs. Herbert Butts on Meridian road, Thursday.
About twenty-four members were present. A basket lunch was served at noon, followed by a social hour. Mrs. S. N.
Hedegard, president, presided over the business meeting in the afternoon.

Members decided at this time that a home talent play would be prepared and given some time in February, the money obtained in this way to go towards the building of a Grange hall. Mrs. Charlotte
Sutter will direct the play.

Saturday, Dec. 6, a card party will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. N.
Hedegard, the proceeds from that also to go into the building fund.
